Collibra Mobile

Data governance from your mobile device

Collibra Mobile puts data governance at your fingertips. Get the most from your data anytime, anywhere.
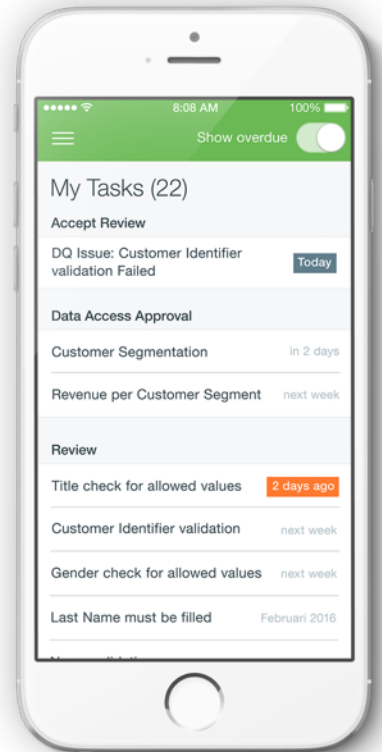

FIND

Access the information you need, anytime, anywhere. Gain complete visibility into all of your data governance business terms, technical metadata, policies, communities and agreements. Know which reports are watermarked and which are the authoritative sources for your data. Find out anything about your data right from your mobile device.

FOLLOW

Get automatic notifications when there are changes to any of the data you care about. Manage and approve changes to critical data, and know when the information you rely on has been improved and enhanced.
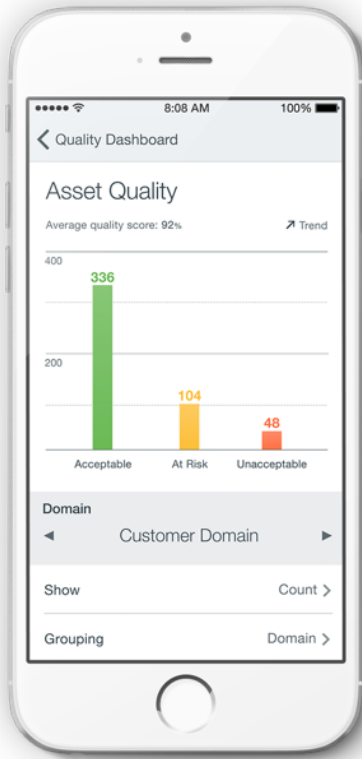

UNDERSTAND

Mobile dashboards give you data governance at a glance. Manage your data quality, track the progress of your data projects, and stay on top of your data governance and stewardship activities all from an easy to use mobile interface.

TRUST

Collibra Mobile ensures that you always know what the data is and what it means. Any issues with data can be surfaced either automatically or by a user from any mobile device. Issues can be tracked and all the right people can participate in their resolution. Collibra Mobile helps you keep your data complete and trustworthy. On top of that, it makes all the information and data governance processes visible to everyone. Data Governance anytime, anywhere with Collibra Mobile.

Know your data

Find the definitions, quality and status of your business terms, critical data elements and KPIs. Know their relationships, policies, and security. Knowing the data enables decision makers to move forward with confidence.

Data stewardship

Implement your stewardship tasks right on your mobile device. Update policy information, approve definition changes, initiate change requests and determine remediation statuses through convenient mobile technology.

Engage your executives

Make executives, field personnel and others an active part of the governance process. Approvals, voting and expert input on mobile devices make it easy for busy decision makers. Increased adoption means a more effective program and a more engaged (and compliant) audience.

Monitor your progress

See where you are with your data projects and your overall governance and stewardship effort. Monitor the quality of the data and understand the status of data management projects and tasks. Focus on continuous improvement, and increase quality, security and compliance.

Visit www.collibra.com for more information and data governance resources.
Contact us directly at info@collibra.com or tweet to @collibra.

Access on the go

Collibra Mobile lets you easily find, use and update your governance information. Understand your data, report issues, update semantics or relationships and execute tasks, all from your mobile device.

Free your users and your data

Your data's definitions, lineage, quality and policies are all available at a moment's notice. Answer questions, find the right reports, identify authoritative data sources. Make the best use of your data in the office, in a meeting or on the road. Collibra Mobile enables you to use your data well all the time.

Data control at your fingertips

Collibra Mobile's dashboards give on-the-go executives a clear view of their data, its quality, and management activities. Initiate changes, update policies and approve requests from an intuitive mobile interface.

Data stewards have a day job

Collibra Mobile lets your data stewards and subject matter experts spend their time doing their day jobs, while staying on top of their stewardship tasks and being highly responsive to expert requests. This freedom and flexibility means better stewardship and more value from your data.