COLLIBRA TRAINING OVERVIEW

Learning for Every Organization

Overview

Collibra has roots in academia, so learning is a core part of the company's culture. The key objectives of the educational and training offerings are to:

- Provide customers and partners with the knowledge to be self-sustaining
- Offer comprehensive course material for beginners through advanced practitioners
- Provide course material for common use cases and typical governance roles
- Offer both self-paced and instructor led options
- Provide achievements and certifications for recognition and career enhancement

Collibra University

Collibra University is free, self-paced training platform that is available at collibra.university.com. It includes dozens of modules that cover all aspects of Collibra product functionality including application configuration and customization.

Completion of courses earns students badges and certifications. In addition, students can use the course catalog and suggested learning paths to plan and self-direct their learning based on their role and phase of Collibra implementation.

Compass

Compass is the Collibra on-line community that is offered free of charge to customers and partners. It includes a wealth of resources including a Body of Knowledge (leading practices), solution templates, product documentation, and a very active Question & Answer forum.

Customers often use Compass hand-in-hand with Collibra University to validate their approach as they get started.

Virtual Train-the-Trainer

For this option, a Collibra instructor remotely leads and monitors a maximum of 10 students who are taking courses using Collibra University. The objective is to train a group who can lead and guide others.

The advantages of an instructor led option are:

- Scheduled time and course order for training
- Course module introductions, commentary based on practical experience
- Ability to ask questions during a morning and afternoon review sessions

The virtual led option is appropriate for teams that are geographically dispersed and can not come together.

A statement of work is required for this option which will define the specific courses, schedule and participants.

On-site Train-the-Trainer

This is an on-site Collibra instructor led option for a maximum of 10 students who are using Collibra University courses as the core material. The objective is to train a group who can lead and guide others.

The advantage of an instructor led option are:

- Scheduled time and course order for training

• Course module introductions, commentary based on practical experience

• Ability to ask questions throughout the training

The on-site option is appropriate for teams who can come together and dedicate time to training.

A statement of work is required for this option which will define the specific courses, schedule, participants and location.

Certifications

Collibra offers several types of career-enhancing certifications. The certifications communicate a standard of mastery and achievement and include the highest designation of Collibra Ranger. All certification requirements and training materials are included as a part of Collibra University.

The following certificates progress in scope and depth of required experience and job responsibility.
